

I really appreciate my XM satellite radio. It would be a crime for those of us who live in rural remote areas that do not receive adequate consistent reception to not be able to gather some of the local information that is broadcast over XM. The instant traffic & weather is excellent for drivers, like my husband who goes from city to city and would be flipping for local information in every city he travelled.

It is much safer this way and he will know exactly where to tune in for this type of information without scanning. I also really appreciate the fact that you can actually listen to a program and can hear it out without losing reception....

GO XM!!! we are truly supporters....This is the best thing that has happened of over the road folks! I ask that the FCC not restrict what satellite radio has accomplished thus far! They have brought radio broadcast out of the dark ages!

THANKS XM!
